World Temps (C)

HIGH_T

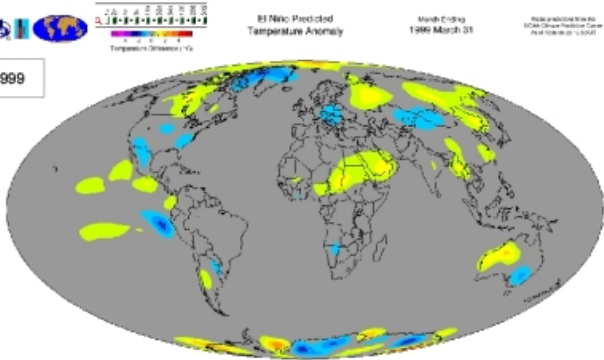

Pathogens are very likely to occur in warmer temperatures, therefore the area including China, Taiwan, and Singapore is a very likely suspect for being the origin of the unknown disease.

El Nino La nina 1999

This region is subject to warm ocean currents, quite a bit of rainfall, and it is, for the most part, a warm subtropical area, making it a very good candidate for being the source of the unknown pathogen.
